Passing along the PRL Tradition

In the heart of Roseville's Parks, Recreation & Libraries (PRL) department are many stories of decades long connections between staff and students that have shaped lives and careers. Many of our staff who now play key roles in PRL were once participants in the same programs they now help run.

Alisha Moyer, Aquatics Supervisor, is just one example. Her journey started in the water at the age of 6. Through her talent and dedication, she excelled on her swim teams growing up and then began working at the pool and climbing the ranks within the department, starting as a swim coach and instructor. Reflecting on her journey, Alisha says, "I've coached a lot of kids over the years. It's incredible to see their growth, from taking swimming lessons to becoming lifeguards. It's amazing to watch these kids give back to the community in the same way I did, it makes me proud."

One of those kids influenced by Alisha's guidance is 20-year-old Natalie Salt. Natalie started swimming at 7-years-old. "Alisha not only coached me in swimming but became a mentor during my high school years as she coached water polo and competitive swimming," Natalie says. "She instilled the values of discipline and perseverance in me that I now use in my job with the city as a pool manager and that I will use in my future career as I work my way through college."

Natalie says her rise from a swim student to Roseville Pool Manager is, in part, thanks to the environment created by Alisha. "Working for the city has been a great experience. Alisha's kindness and passion for her staff and the community inspires me," Natalie shares. "Working in aquatics is one of the most fun jobs you can have. You get to meet amazing people and you're allowed to grow in your role no matter what position you're in."

"Working in aquatics isn't just a job; it's a gateway to meeting incredible people and forging connections throughout the city," Alisha explains.

Alisha, Natalie and numerous other PRL employees in parks, recreation, libraries and our Adventure Club, are great examples of how mentorship can impact lives, improve community and shape a new generation of leaders.

Embracing diversity and inclusion at our Libraries

Our three Roseville libraries are much more than places to go to pick up your favorite book or get resources for a school project. These spaces go above and beyond to function as adaptive centers designed to meet the diverse needs of our community.

Inside, an extensive collection of books caters to all ages and abilities. In our Downtown Library is a well-attended ASL (American Sign Language) storytime that brings the magic of stories to life for children from the deaf community.

"It is a bilingual storytime that is also open to hearing families, which gives deaf and hearing children the opportunity to interact with each other once a week," says Librarian Lisa Eck. "This program allows them to have a space to enjoy each other, the fun stories and for kids and families to feel like they are part of the community. It's just one of the many things we do here at the library to make our programs accessible for everyone."

Understanding diverse needs, the libraries partner with the California State Library by providing applications to the Braille and Talking Book Library. This service offers materials for all ages who are visually or physically impaired. The library offers a Dyslexic font for eBooks through their Libby app ensuring the titles can be enjoyed by many.

ADA-compliant computer accessories, including the Jumbo Switch and keyboards with large fonts, extend technological opportunities to individuals with special needs. Librarian Sara Schlehofer encourages visitors to explore these resources, stating, "Library staff are available to assist with information and resources to support those with diverse disabilities. To further foster inclusivity, our libraries host inclusive programs for all ages and are working toward creating kits for those with sensory sensitivities."

Outside, our Martha Riley Library has a universally accessible playground which welcomes visitors, setting the tone for an all-inclusive environment.

Our Roseville Libraries embrace diversity and community, offering limitless opportunities for learning and innovation.

Whether you're on foot or on wheels

Bicycles

The rules of the road require bikes, like cars, to travel on the right. This also applies to our trails. California Vehicle Code 21956

Travel at a safe speed; yield to pedestrians.

When passing, slow down and move to the left when safe.

Pedestrians

Pedestrians always use the left lane.

Stay in the proper lane so you aren't surprised by traffic coming up behind you.

When a cyclist approaches, step toward the shoulder to allow extra room for passing.

All Trail Users

Don't block the trail; travel single file when the trail is busy.

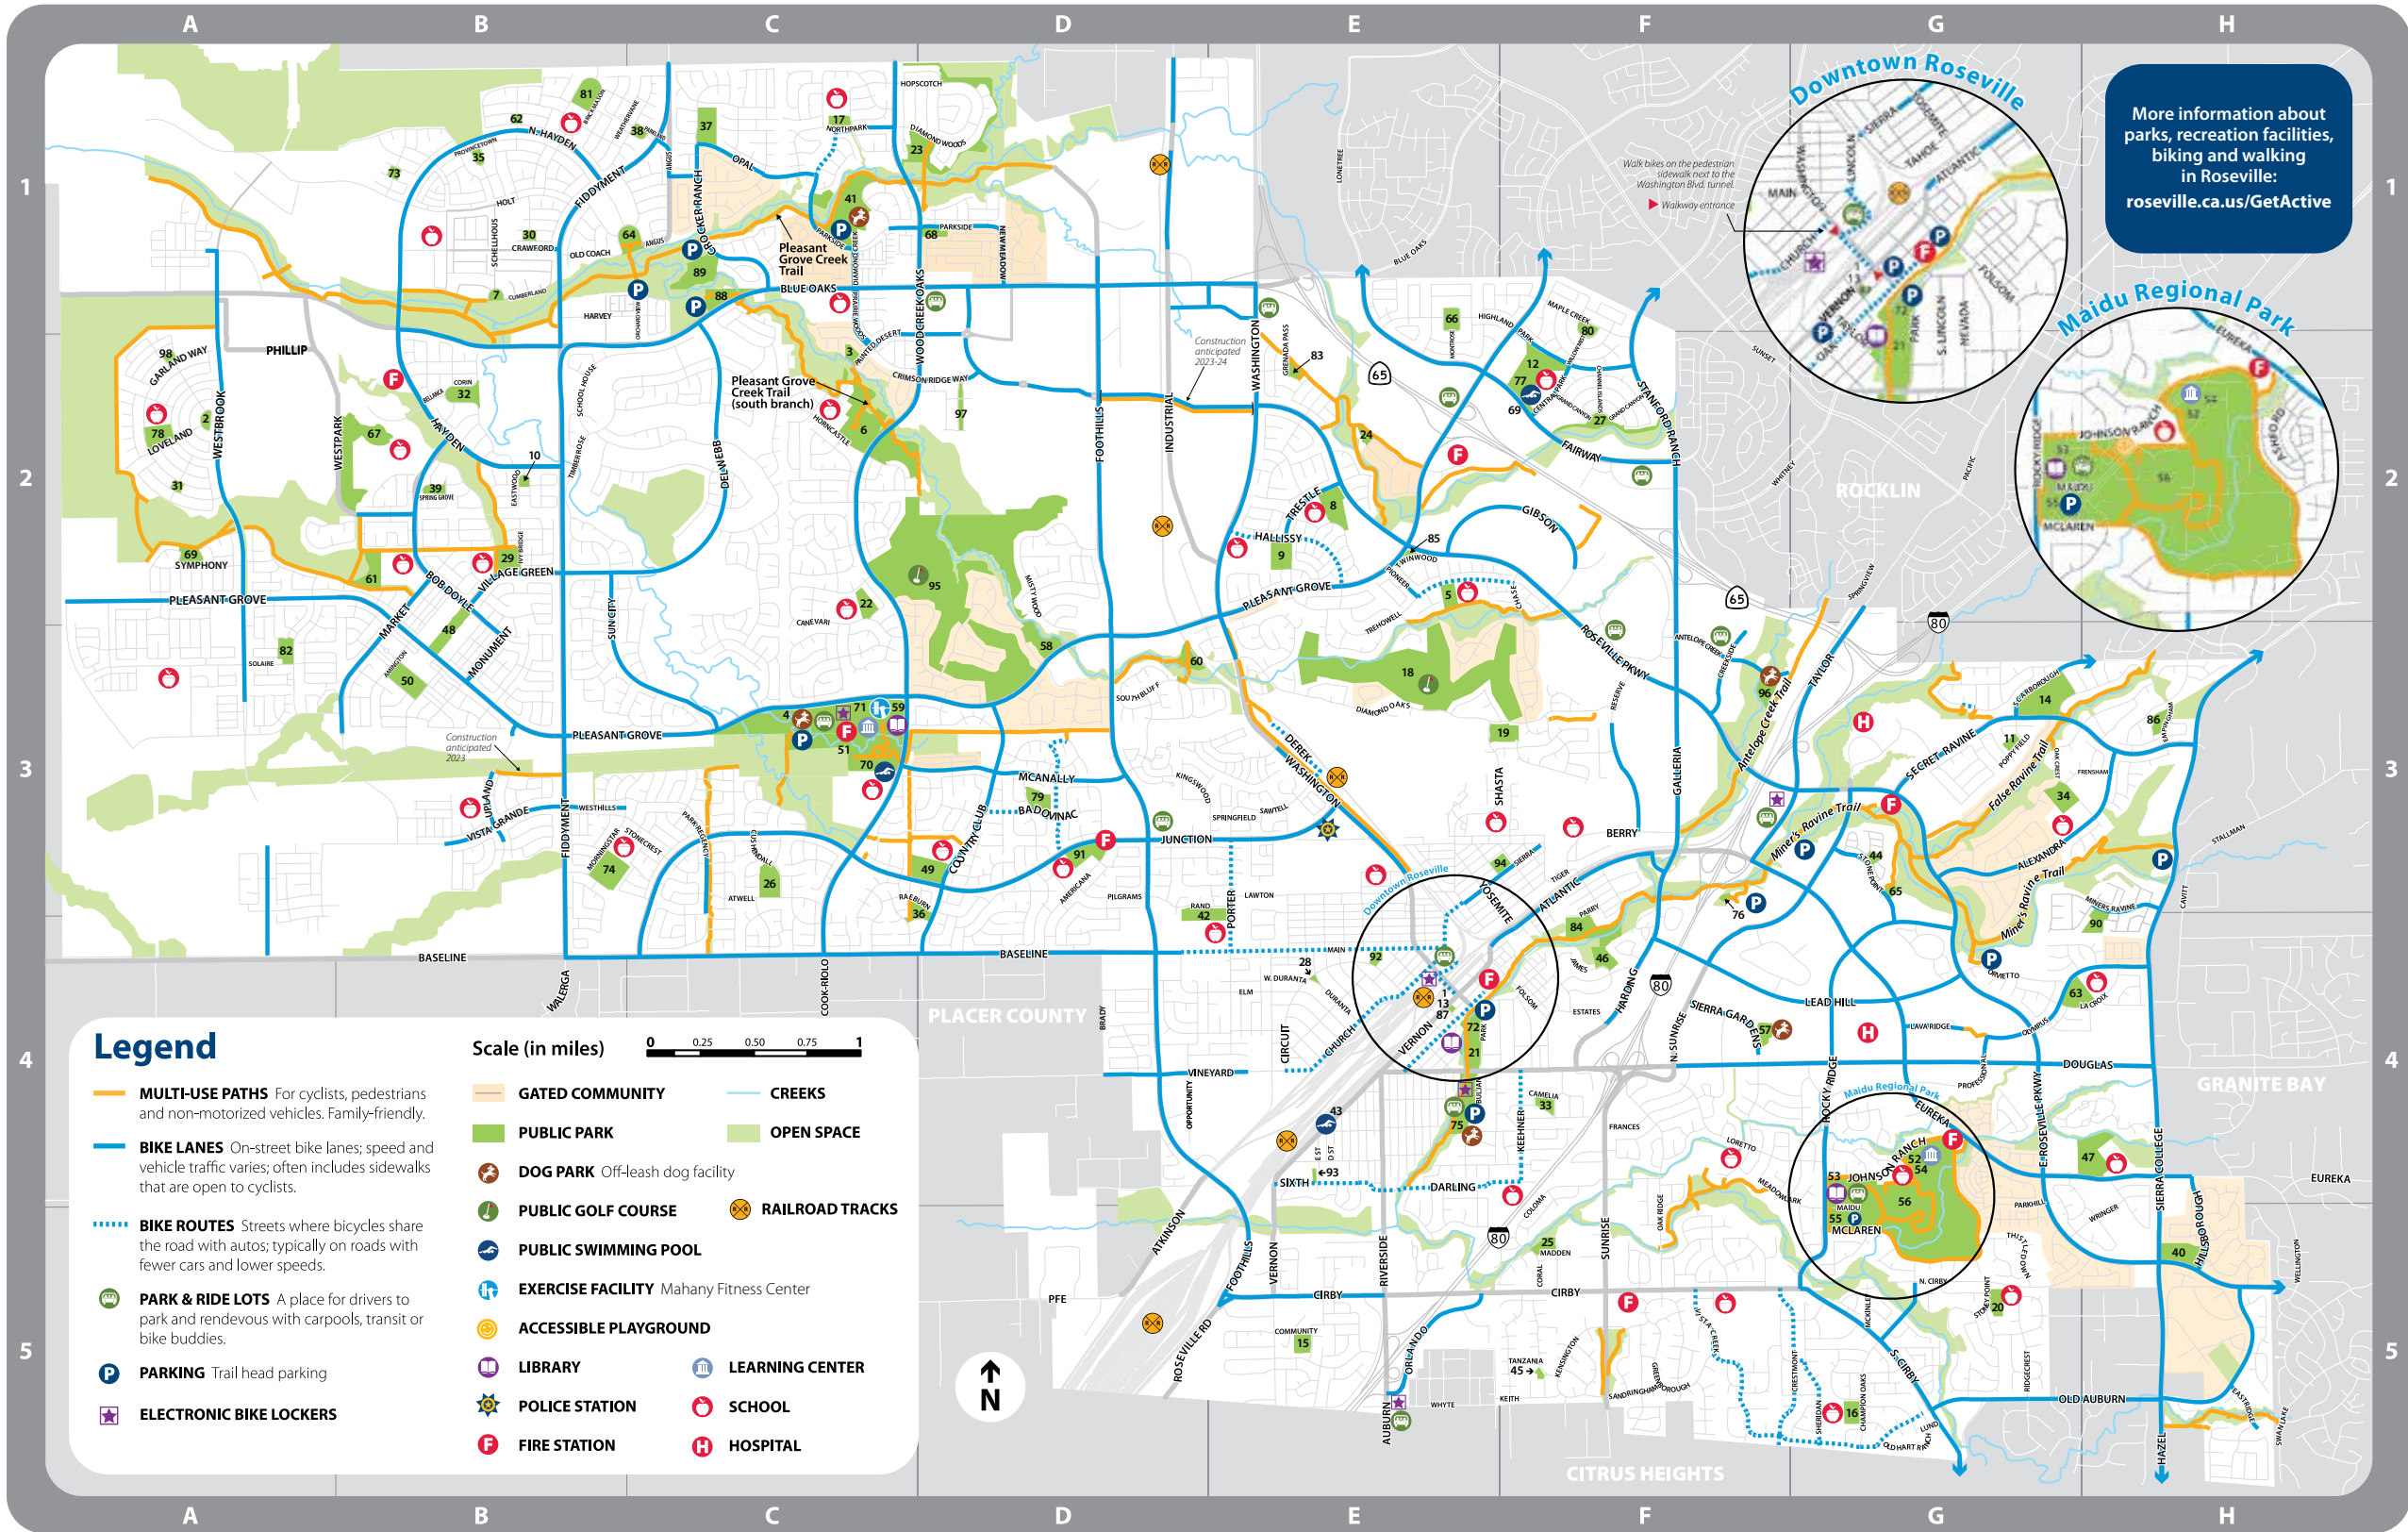

Keep dogs under control and on a leash no longer than 6 feet. Municipal Code 7.04.060
